

Museums Ask People To Recreate Famous Paintings At Home.

People stuck at home during quarantine are letting their creativity loose.

The J. Paul Getty Museum in Los Angeles challenged art lovers to post photos of themselves recreating their favourite masterpieces from home and the response has been massive.

The Getty Museum challenge, where you have to recreate your favourite work of art with 3 things lying around your home, was inspired by the “Between Art and Quarantine” Instagram account from Amsterdam.

And the Getty’s not the only one inspiring people to show their love of art during quarantine: the Pinchuk Art Centre in Kyiv, Ukraine is doing the same.
